

Distro Deadbeats

Last updated: 4 Sep 2013

Our little group over on YahooGroups ran a Distro in 2013 called the 2013 Distro. Some people signed up for the distro without taking into account their inability to fulfill the obligations of the distro, namely, copying the disks and shipping them on to the next person in a timely manner. This is the list of those people who let the entire group down. Someone else had to step up and send another set to make up for these deadbeats. They are being listed here so other distros in the future will know what they did and decide if they want to take the chance of including them. I sure wouldn't take another chance on these people.

If you have additional names that should be included here or if you feel your name shouldn't be on this list, I can be contacted at kenglong@gmail.com. However, no name gets included unless all possible solutions have been exhausted. Believe me, it takes a lot to get on this list.
